Introduction

This report is based on a positive vision of world peace, and the belief that each individual has the potential within to make a significant contribution to world peace. The basis of inner peace is self-esteem and self-knowledge, and when enough individuals are self-aware, they will act in accordance with natural laws to promote harmony around them, and the result will be world peace.

Good will win out over evil, and the goodness within yourself will manifest through your individual personality.

This report is designed to draw your attention to your potential, your unique opportunities for expressing it, and your ability to bring about harmony around you. Some of your ability is based on gifts which you already have, which are easy for you to draw upon. You also have the willpower to dissolve any blockages which may be standing in the way of your clear vision of the possibilities of harmony and peace. Start with a positive attitude, and you will be favorably surprised at what you can achieve and what you can overcome. Love yourself, and you are already creating world peace.

Each person's astrological chart maps out a divinely created plan for that individual. It tells what you were put on this earth to do. You can learn what your own, unique mission is and then you can rejoice in carrying it out. The utmost good which you can imagine can become your reality. Then you can spread the good news to others and awaken them to their own, inner Light. All persons are created from the divine, and we are moving back to the divine. Life is a celebration of both our common awareness of the Light and our God-given birthright to an individual identity which is uniquely ours and which, when fully realized, will shine as its own Light and harmonize with all the other Lights on the planet. It will be like the vivid and beautiful colours of the spectrum all merging into White Light, and then radiating from the souls of all individuals at once.

Astrology is the study of the Astral Plane. The Astral Plane is the link between the everyday world of the manifested, Physical Plane and our higher planes of awareness, from which we can draw insight into how to improve our affairs in the physical realm. If we perceive a problem in the everyday world, such as a lack of peace, we cannot always solve it on that level, because the everyday world is made up of opposing polarities.

We need to rise above the physical plane to see that these opposites are reconcilable. For example, if one person is male and another is female, they appear on the surface to be of opposite polarities but on the higher level, they are both human; they can communicate with each other; and they can enjoy working together for their common benefit.

Each individual has opposing polarities too, such as a right side and a left side, but through the higher awareness of our brains we get our two sides working together. Our brain has two hemispheres: The left hemisphere is responsible for logical thought and governs the right side of our body. The right hemisphere is responsible for creative, lateral thinking and rules the left side of our body. When we operate "from centre" - that is, when our higher brain gets our logical thought and our creative thought to work together harmoniously - then we come up with our best, most creatively intelligent output. When we use our full potential, when we know whom we are and believe in ourselves, then we create maximum harmony with those around us and, on the transpersonal level, we come up with our best solutions for world peace.

On the astral level each individual has command of both polarities. For example, we each have a Sun sign and a Moon sign. We also each have a Venus and a Mars sign, regardless of whether we are male or female on the physical plane. So, if we tune into whom we are astrologically, we begin to reach a level of awareness where we have transcended the polarities of the physical plane. We can see how we are each an embodiment of the harmonious balancing of polarities. We are born with this unity already in place. We just need to know how to use our Sun sign and our Moon sign, and our other planets, to our best advantage in our daily lives, so that by being our true selves, we will be bringing about peace.

Each person's method of using his or her Sun and Moon signs, and other planets, will be different, because we were each born at a different time and place on the Earth, where we're influenced by different combinations of influences by the other planets. On this astral plane, some of us will be contributing a more masculine interpretation of solar energy (if our Sun is in a fire or air sign) and the rest of us will be showing the world a more feminine way of looking at the Sun (if our Sun is in an earth or water sign). Also, depending on our Moon sign, we will each have our own way of interpreting the Moon's type of energy and, in our mission on Earth, we will be contributing this much-needed awareness to our own planet's evolution. We are all important, and we are all here to be ourselves, at our highest possible level of understanding. We are here to help our planet achieve its divine purpose, and to do so is perfectly natural to us.

Just as there are particular points of strength and prominence in your astrological chart, there are strategic points on the Earth's surface for the achievement of world peace. For example, this Report is being written in the city of Toronto which, along with London and Los Angeles, are important world energy centres (or chakras) for the development of international understanding. London is the world centre for intelligence and Los Angeles is the world centre for creativity. Toronto is the centre for unity, or creative intelligence, or the resolution of polarities. The name "Toronto" means "meeting place" in native Indian. Therefore, it is part of the mission of those who are familiar with the earth energy of Toronto to spread to the rest of the world the message that polarities can be resolved and peace can be created.

I once obtained a computer printout as to what was going on in the news on the day of my birth. It said that, on that date in 1950, Ralph Bunche received the Nobel Peace Prize. I later learned that he was one of the founders of the United Nations and that he had been successful in negotiating a truce between the Jews and the Palestinians in Israel in 1949. He did this by working very hard to listen to the points of view of both sides and looking for a common ground. He said "Talking is better than shooting". He remained calm himself and successfully brought about an armistice. Treaties were signed between Israel and each of Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, and Syria. So, the very positive message which can be brought into the present day is: Peace is possible. Differences can be overcome and understanding can be reached through conscious effort and communication. Look for what you have in common with your neighbour and build on it.

My message as an astrologer to you is: Whatever day you were born on is divinely significant. Your birth data can be the key to your realizing how important your presence in the world is. Each person is uniquely important. Within each other person we can see our own, divine essence mirrored, because what we have in common is our potential to bring out the very best in ourselves and each other.

On the day that I decided to write the World Peace Report and I began writing it, October 17, 2002, there were many trine aspects, which confers harmony. I hope that your World Peace Report helps you to fully develop your potential for contributing to world peace and harmony.

Chapter 1: Rising Sign

Ascendant in Taurus:

Your outward personality, through which our Inner Light and all of the various planetary influences in your chart are expressed, is serene, deliberate and stable. You inspire a feeling of peace and security in others. You are able to create beauty, form and results which are lasting. You allow others to relax and feel safe to look within themselves, so that their true, more enduring talents will make their way to the surface. You appear strong, and you are able to help others lift the obstacles to peace out of the way.

Chapter 2: The Sun

Sun in Capricorn:

You realize that, in order to have a significant influence on world peace, you either have to deal with the people who have the power or else be one of those people. Therefore, you work very hard, step by step, to prove that you are trustworthy, reliable and worthy of a top position. You may work as a peace officer, dissolving conflicts before they have a chance to grow. You are very good at making big problems turn into little problems. You do this by being emotionally detached and not caught up in the feelings of the moment. You evaluate logically what has to be done, and then you figure out the most practical, realistic solution.

Sun in the 9th house:

You would excel as a positive, dynamic, inspiration leader. You could work as a minister, yogi, lecturer, or new-age publisher. You are a living example of how there is enough healing energy to uplift the planet, and you can do much to teach others by your example. You may find that it is your mission to travel to foreign countries, in order to spread joy, faith and optimism. Always remember that the truth is that you and others can find the Universal Light within, and that it can and should be the guiding force for the world.

Chapter 3: The Moon

Moon in Pisces:

You are very sensitive to the vibrations around you, so seek out a peaceful place where you can live near the water and where your creativity can flow. In the right environment, you will receive much divine inspiration about how to improve the world, and your prayers and meditations will result in your being able to uplift the planet in very subtle, gentle, positive ways. Provided that your own psyche is free of stress you have the potential to be a psychic healer or channeller, and to be able to send healing energy to wherever it is most needed.

Moon in the 11th house:

You would feel most at home in a group, and you would be able to do a lot of good work for peace, particularly through your friendships with women. You are skilled at giving others the support they need to feel that they are equal. You likely grew up in a home where people of all backgrounds were welcome and where you could see the synergistic benefits of people working together. You might be interested in working with others on an environmental cause. At times you need to be alone to recharge your batteries and regain your own sense of whom you are as an individual, but once you have done that, you are ready to rejoin the group with even more enthusiasm.

Moon Square Mars:

You grew up in a family of strong-willed, hardworking people. Sometimes there were sudden, emotional disagreements among family members, and these experiences would have taught you over the years to be constructive in dealing with such situations. You now have insights which others do not have about how emotional assertiveness does not mean that people do not love one another and that disagreements are not a sign of any need for retaliation; they are just a way of releasing stress and carrying on with a forgiving attitude.

However, work on more constructive outlets for releasing stress, such as physical exercise, and communication skills which allow for the expression of emotions without attacking the person.

Moon Trine Pluto:

You have an innate understanding of how good nurturing of children is ultimately what creates a peaceful world.

You hold the contribution of women in high esteem, and you could influence many to appreciate them more.

You would be in touch with the fact that the right-brain and lateral thinking can solve differences more harmoniously than an adversarial approach. You could work through a religious or charitable group to get food and other humanitarian aid to those most in need.

Chapter 4: Mercury

Mercury in Aquarius:

Your inventive, scientific mind could come up with solutions for world peace which no one else has ever thought of. You might find new ways of getting people to learn and communicate by computer which would bring different sides together in totally unexpected ways. You would be good at teaching astrology. Your intuition is right on target, and you often have sudden flashes of inspiration.

Mercury in the 10th house:

You would do well in a speaking or writing career, particularly in government. You could write speeches about the value of peace and gain recognition for your ability in this area. Because you are very rational and reliable, you would be good at keeping people calm and convincing them to use a more peaceful approach.

Chapter 5: Venus

Venus in Pisces:

You have the potential to bring in a vision of a very compassionate, sensitive and harmonious world. In order to cultivate this vision, you first need to take very good care of yourself, because your most sensitive emotions are very valuable and important. You need to be clear of any fears or doubts about world peace, in order for your subconscious mind to be free to have only positive thoughts. You might find that you can inspire others towards peace with artistic work or by drawing their attention to the beauties of nature.

Venus in the 11th house:

You have many friends because you are kind, fair, tolerant, and very sociable. Your attitude very actively encourages peace, because others are likely to be influenced by your good example and to reach out to people with whom they may never before have thought could be friends. You would have the ability to work with groups of people in the community who are seeking to achieve better harmony.

Chapter 6: Mars

Mars in Gemini:

Because you are an enthusiastic debater, you have the potential to put forward arguments in favour of peace. Make sure that you are well educated and prepared, so that your arguments will be genuinely valid and capable of winning. It will be all the better if you can speak or understand other languages, as this will enhance your opportunities for the kind of communication needed for better understanding in the world. Cultivate confidence in yourself, so that your debating will be constructive, rather than just argumentative. You have an agile mind which is very capable of rising above the level of differences.

Mars in the 2nd house:

You have the ability to take direct action to ensure peace and, in this way, you can motivate those who may be too fearful or indecisive to achieve something concrete. You have good earning ability and could begin a new business venture in a place where the cause of any dissension is the lack of a good economy.

Mars Opposition Saturn:

You need to find a balance between acting quickly on one hand and having enough discipline on the other. If you develop both sides of this apparent dilemma - that is, if you achieve a high level of physical fitness on one hand and a refined sense of self-control on the other - you will be much closer to acting quickly in a disciplined way. You will then have something of real value towards achieving world peace, because one of the problems in the world is that people act without thinking and another is that, when it comes to creating peace, they too often do not act at all.

Chapter 7: Jupiter and Saturn

Jupiter in Taurus:

Money comes easily to you, but your use of it needs to be inspired by the highest, spiritual good in order for you to find real, inner security and inspire peace in the world. You are naturally very honest, and you seek to find the most meaningful way to invest your wealth. A suggestion would be to look into companies which create a "green economy" - that is, those which promote a clean environment through the use of alternative energy. Another possibility would be sustainable agriculture. Make sure that the people working in your projects have the best working conditions possible and a sense of self-improvement and optimism for building a bright, common future.

Jupiter in the 12th house:

You are very generous and compassionate and willing to reach out to those most in need. Because of your very high level of spiritual awareness, you do not ask for anything in return, and you have faith that your own needs will be provided for through your good karma. You can gain many subtler insights by meditating in a quiet retreat. You are not attached to material things, and you can set a good example to others that they can be happy without competing over how much they can own.

Jupiter Trine Neptune:

You would have a special talent for helping those in need on a large scale. You could do this by raising funds for them, setting up a school for them, or going among them to offer them hope and inspiration. You could be a yoga teacher at a spiritual retreat centre. You could lead large groups of people in prayer and peace meditations. You would be a good role-model of compassionate behaviour and a spiritually devoted lifestyle.

Saturn in Sagittarius:

You have a good balance between inner inspiration and practical achievement, because you are very honest and live according to your beliefs. Use your philosophy or religion as a positive guide to make you happier, and rise above having it be just a set of restricting rules. In this way, you will be living the true meaning of it, and you will be tolerant of others and their beliefs.

Saturn in the 8th house:

You would not only have the ability to believe that world peace can be regenerated, but also the patience to work long and hard to help bring it about. You have enduring courage, an honest approach to finances, and deep insight into what blockages may be preventing peace. You are very interested in how deaths can be prevented, and your careful, strategic approach to respecting and maintaining life sets a very positive example for many.

Chapter 8: Uranus, Neptune and Pluto

Uranus in Aries:

You are willing to take concrete action for the cause of peace, and to break away from outworn structures to make a new beginning. You are committed to positive change. You are a strong and independent individual who can inspire others to stand up for themselves.

Uranus in the 12th house:

You would be very good at working on the cause of helping the poor and ensuring that disadvantaged persons of all types are treated as equal human beings. You could think of new and untried solutions which would help them. You are very psychic and intuitive and, if you spent time meditating in a peaceful retreat, you would likely be able to channel in very high spiritual energy and direct compassionate vibrations to those who could most benefit from it.

Neptune in Virgo:

You were born into a generation when people were trying to attain a balance between their imaginations and their practical minds, their desire to dream and their need to work, their compassion and their need to balance the books. Although this was a challenging time of learning to reconcile opposites, it laid the basis for a future understanding of peace, because the challenges developed character, opened minds and expanded horizons to include the whole world.

Neptune in the 5th house:

You would be able to inspire people to create peace as an artist, perhaps by invoking compassion for children. As a psychic, you would be able to send light to others, so as to bring out their potential. You would be a caring leader who could help elevate the planet to a higher, subtler level of awareness.

Pluto in Cancer:

You were born at a time when people were coming to realize the intense importance of good motherhood for creating world peace. If individuals are nurtured and cared for when they are young, they will care for others when they grow up, and if enough people do this, the world will be like one, big, happy family. Those who begin by caring about their families tend to go on to care about their cultural group. If they have enough love, they will also care about other cultural groups, rather than see them as a threat to their own security. Of course, nurturing, caring energy can be generated at any age through prayer, meditation or affirmation.

Pluto in the 3rd house:

This is a very powerful position for being able to use the mass media to create peace. Words have a very powerful effect and, if they are chosen carefully, they can have a very beneficial, even transformative effect.

Think of the number of times the media sensationalizes stories by using words which have a connotation of war, and how influential it would be if they used words suggesting peace instead! Pick up an actual newspaper and study how you could improve the headings. What would be the positive side of the coin instead? Collect "good news" stories and use them to educate others as to their positive, psychological effects. Give peace a chance!

Conclusion

This report on World Peace is best utilized by those who are ready to go ahead and make a positive contribution to the world. If you find that you need to feel more secure as an individual first, before taking on the task of helping to change the world, then you may find that the Personal Security Report is more suited to your needs.

The Personal Security Report addresses the issue of preventing negative outcomes. The World Peace Report takes the next step and focuses on how to manifest positive outcomes. The Personal Security Report is about undoing past karma, and the World Peace Report is about creating good karma for the future.

The outlook for world peace in the 21st century is very positive. If Ralph Bunche were able to bring about a truce in 1949, think of what many individuals working together could achieve now! He was working under pressure, but there are many persons now who are able to reflect on peaceful solutions without being under pressure. There are new technologies such as computers which can be used to bring people together. The concept of a unified world is more acceptable nowadays in people's minds and, therefore, easier to achieve.

Yes, the tensions in the world may appear to be more obvious now, but that reflects the healthy process of the world's past karma unravelling, in order to pave the way for a positive, enlightened future. The World Peace Report is designed to help you discover the ways in which you can participate and contribute to world peace in this century where there is so much potential for all of us to assist in this very important endeavor.
