REVELATION: THE NEW ASTROLOGY

INTRODUCTION

"I can't help it. I'm an Aries. Of COURSE I have a temper." "The Moon was in Taurus. It triggered my sweet tooth. I HAD to have dessert." "Mars squared my ascendant, so of COURSE I got angry."

We've all made statements like these and, in essence, blamed the planets for our actions and the events in our lives. We look to the stars for guidance, praise them when we do well, and blame them when things don't go the way we'd like. Don't the stars affect our lives? Don't they influence us? The stars do not MAKE us do anything any more than seeing a great pair of shoes in a store window MAKES you run in and buy them, or passing a restaurant when you are hungry MAKES you rush inside and grab a meal. There is a synchronicity to the universe that puts you intuitively in tune with the world around you. Subconsciously, you give and receive messages that guide and direct you to your spoken or unspoken goal, thus creating those events and circumstances that fulfill your desires. You, then, are the Creator of your life. You created being at the restaurant when you were hungry so that you could eat. YOU were the cause, not the restaurant. Similarly, you created being in front of the store window in order to see the shoes. YOU were the Creator, not the shoes.

In the winter, the leaves fall from the trees. At the same time, we put on heavier clothing. The falling leaves do not MAKE us put on heavier clothing; the cold weather does. We and the trees are responding to the same cause--the change of seasons. As part of God's plan, we, and all of nature, are responding to the larger order of things. So, too, in astrology, the planets reflect what is occurring in our personal worlds and the lessons we are learning. They are not the lessons themselves, but the reflections thereof.

REVELATION: THE NEW ASTROLOGY is the implementation of the knowledge that you are the Creator of your life. As such, you are free to interpret each planet in your chart on its highest and best level, thereby being the highest and best manifestation of God you can be. YOU determine the level of functioning of your chart and the degree of happiness and success in your life. When you function on this level, your life takes on a richness of dimension it has not had before. You take the responsibility for creating your life the way you would like it to be. You see the planets as those gifts and talents you have chosen to express in this lifetime. You fulfill your limitless potential because you see what CAN be, rather than what cannot. The chart then becomes a guide, rather than the source of your happiness or unhappiness. It becomes a reflection of your own spiritual evolution. REVELATION: THE NEW ASTROLOGY is designed to assist you in that evolution. It is about love and appreciation of the God within, the acknowledgment of the Truth of who you are and, as a result, the beautiful expression of that Truth.

When you express the Truth of who you are by being your highest and best, you lift those around you and inspire THEM to be THEIR highest and best. They, in turn, inspire others, and so the Light is awakened in one person after another, spreading love, joy and peace across the face of the earth.

YOUR GIFTS, TALENTS AND ABILITIES PLANETS IN HOUSES

THE SUN

The Sun represents your greatest power and creativity in this lifetime. Its house placement indicates that area of life in which you are free to express this power and creativity--that area of life in which your Light shines most brightly.

Sun in 5th house:

You create fun wherever you go because you are free to be childlike. You enjoy life and all it has to offer. You are artistically talented.

THE MOON

The Moon represents your sensitivity and feeling nature. Its house placement indicates that area of life in which you previously sought emotional security and are now more intuitively awakened and responsive.

Moon in 7th house:

You reach people on a deep, emotional level, and speak to their deepest security needs. You are instinctively protective and nurturing of others and they trust you. By overcoming your need to take care of them you enable them to become independent and take care of themselves.

MERCURY

Mercury rules the conscious mind and communication. Wherever it is placed in the chart is the area of life about which you think and talk the most.

Mercury in 6th house:

You think in terms of service. You come up with new ideas on how to get the job done, and encourage ideas among your co-workers.

VENUS

Venus represents the principles of love, beauty, art and sociability. Wherever it is placed in your chart is that area of life where you most easily express love and beauty.

Venus in 4th house:

The foundation of your life is love---your family feels it and your beautiful home reflects it. Your loving nature grows and increases with time.

MARS

Mars rules passion and energy. Wherever it is placed in your chart is the area of life that comes first to you, the area into which you throw yourself and your energies, the area about which you feel passionately.

Mars in 4th house:

Your emotional security comes first and is reflected in the importance of your home and family. You passionately take a stand for hearth and home, and make the family the foundation of your life.

JUPITER

Jupiter represents the principles in which you believe, and rules expansion, abundance, truth, generosity and optimism. Its house placement indicates that area of life in which you are blessed, and in which you believe most strongly.

Jupiter in 3rd house:

You think optimistically, speak the Truth, and have a positive outlook. You can explain concepts and principles in such a way that others understand them. You believe in your ideas because you know that they come from God.

SATURN

Saturn rules responsibility, authority, strength and power. Wherever it falls in your chart is the area of life where you take charge, assume your responsibilities and express your greatest strength.

Saturn in 4th house:

You are the rock in your family, the foundation on which it is built. You have a deep respect for tradition, and place great importance on home and family. As a result, you assume your domestic responsibilities. Your confidence, authority and security increase with time.

URANUS

Uranus rules originality, innovation, and invention. Wherever it falls in your chart is that area of life in which you express your unique individuality.

Uranus in 11th house:

You are a humanitarian and a friend to all. This enables you to be with people of any age, race, sex, religion or nationality and feel a kinship with them. You want what is best for the whole. This brings out the humanitarianism in the group.

NEPTUNE

Neptune represents spirituality, faith, and divine inspiration. Its house placement indicates that area of life in which you seek to fulfill your most beautiful dreams, and where you are inspired to selflessly serve.

Neptune in 2nd house:

You are subconsciously in tune with financial currents. You have faith that money will always be forthcoming. This, along with your non-material attitude, brings it to you in abundance.

PLUTO

Pluto represents total transmutation, the death of the lower nature and subsequent emergence of the reborn God within. Wherever it falls in your chart is that area of life in which you have been transformed, where you are empowered and completely in command.

Pluto in 11th house:

Your friendship circle has undergone a total change. You are a powerful leader and can bring new life to a group. You empower your friends by giving them their autonomy.

THE NORTH AND SOUTH NODES

The South Node, the Dragon's Tail, represents those qualities and abilities previously developed in past lives. The North Node, the Dragon's Head, represents those qualities and abilities to be further developed in this life. Combining both nodes balances their energies and creates a natural flow. Because they are 180 degrees apart, they teach us how to interact successfully with others and, therefore, affect all our relationships. Their house placements indicate those areas of life which can thrive as a result of their blending.

Nodes in 6th/12th houses:

Your desire to serve, and willingness to do whatever task is needed is the oil that keeps the machinery running smoothly, and has much to do with the success of the projects you undertake.

PLANETS IN SIGNS

By seeing the positive manifestation of the planets in the signs, you are able to express your highest and best.

Sun in Pisces:

Your spirituality and faith in God give you an ethereal quality which can inspire others.

Moon in Aries:

You feel things keenly and respond quickly, clearly and directly. You do beautifully with a short-term goal.

Mercury in Pisces:

You are inspired and express yourself poetically, spiritually and intuitively.

Venus in Aquarius:

You love your friends and express your affection for them easily.

Mars in Aquarius:

Your energies are directed toward humanitarian projects, especially those combining the traditional with the non-traditional.

Jupiter in Sagittarius:

You are naturally optimistic, philosophical, and love your freedom.

Saturn in Capricorn:

You assume your leadership responsibilities, especially those dealing with power and authority.

Uranus in Leo:

Your creations are innovative because you love to try the unique and unusual.

Neptune in Scorpio:

You are able to lose yourself in the power of the universe and become one with God. You are very psychic and receive constant spiritual insights.

Pluto in Virgo:

Your attitude toward work and health have been transformed. You are free to work at what you choose, and are passionate about serving. You have the ability to heal yourself non-traditionally.

THE NODES IN THE SIGNS

The North and South Nodes teach us the same lessons in the signs as they do in the houses.

Nodes in Virgo/Pisces:

Your desire to serve, and willingness to do whatever task is needed is the oil that keeps the machinery running smoothly and has much to do with the success of the projects you undertake.

ASPECTS

Traditional astrology identifies certain aspects between planets as "positive", and others as "negative". Aspects between planets are simply contacts between them. When you are coming from limitlessness, when your chart is functioning on its highest and best level, your attitude is one of loving acceptance because you know that every situation is a reflection of where you are and what your next learning experience is. As a result, every aspect is positive. By accepting planetary aspects as positive learning experiences, they function that way in your life.

Sun - Saturn aspects:

You are mature and reliable. You assume your responsibilities and have the determination and discipline to work toward the attainment of your goals. Your integrity enhances your leadership ability.

Sun - Neptune aspects:

You walk hand-in-hand with God and fulfill your dreams through service to Him. You are inspired and see beauty everywhere. You give thanks all the time for God's presence and blessings on earth.

Neptune - MC aspects:

You are inspired, and lead only because you want to serve God.

THE ASCENDANT

The ascendant is the most personal point in the chart. The sign on the ascendant gives a powerful description of you. By knowing its most positive qualities, you may use your ascendant on its highest and best level.

Ascendant in Libra:

Your charm, sociability and diplomacy make you a natural at public relations---you say the right thing at the right time to the right person.

THE CHART RULER

The ruler of the sign on the ascendant is the "chart ruler." It is a key planet in the horoscope because the ascendant is the most personal point in the chart. Its sign, house placement and the aspects it makes to other planets explain how you express YOU. (Refer to chapters: Planets in Houses, Planets in Signs and Aspects.)

CHART RULER: VENUS

You express love and beauty, and appreciate these qualities in others. You create an atmosphere of charm and sociability wherever you go. You enjoy the pleasures of life, from food to fine art.

ROVING DELEGATES

The signs on the house cusps are the principles to be learned; the cusp on which a sign falls tells us the area of life in which that particular principle will manifest. The planetary ruler, or "roving delegate" of that sign, acts as a messenger, bringing the energy from the house it rules to the house in which it is placed. For example, if Aries is on the 3rd cusp and Mars is in the 10th, the ruler of the 3rd is in the 10th. The energy flows from the 3rd to the 10th, linking the two. The same principle applies if Taurus is on the 3rd and Venus is in the 10th, or Cancer is on the 3rd and the Moon is in the 10th.

Ruler of 1st house in 4th:

You understand the need for emotional security and are able to provide it for yourself. You are there with emotional support for your family members when they need you.

Ruler of 2nd house in 11th:

You share your possessions and values with your friends, and give for the good of the whole.

Ruler of 3rd house in 3rd:

You are an idea person and do best when you express yourself, whether verbally or on paper.

Ruler of 4th house in 4th:

You may have looked to your home and family for security in the past, but you have learned over time that your true security is to be found within on God.

Ruler of 5th house in 11th:

You love people and bring enjoyment to your friends by encouraging them to have fun. You love to be with your friends. You regard your children as friends and can include them in your social activities.

Ruler of 6th house in 2nd:

Your work is one of your most valuable possessions. You profit through service projects.

Ruler of 7th house in 4th:

The world is your family and you invite it into your heart and your home. Having a partner gives you great security. Your greatest security comes from being married to the God within. As time goes by, this can increase.

Ruler of 8th house in 4th:

Your need for security undergoes a transformation in this life freeing you from being emotionally dependent on support, financial or otherwise, from other people.

Ruler of 9th house in 6th:

You put your principles into action in your work and you work at what you believe in. Service is one of the principles by which you live.

Ruler of 10th house in 7th:

The authority figures in your life support and encourage your partnerships. You take your partnership responsibility seriously, knowing that others see you as an authority. You see authority figures as your equals.

Ruler of 11th house in 5th:

Your friends encourage your creativity. You love them dearly and love to socialize with them.

Ruler of 12th house in 6th:

You want to serve in your work. As a result, no task is too small or unimportant because you know it is needed.

A FINAL WORD

When you believe you are intelligent, you act intelligently. When you believe you are loving, you act lovingly and attract love. When you believe you are limitless, you act limitlessly and attract success. Why not accept the truth--that you were born to be happy, to succeed and to live life abundantly? By putting your attention on the most positive manifestation of your chart you create love, joy and peace in your life. It's your life---live it!
