

Business Compatibility and Conflict Report for

Janet Jackson

and

Michael Jackson

Birth Data for Janet:

Janet Jackson
16 May 1966
19:00
Gary, Indiana

Birth Data for Michael:

Michael Jackson
August 29, 1958
19:33
Gary, Indiana

Zavod Pot do zdravja
www.astro-reports.com
info@potdozdravja.si

Chapter 1: Bonds For Energy, Fun and Lasting Impressions

This section is based on the idea that there are three basic needs in every relationship:

Interest, energy and stimulation.

Enjoyment, abundance, expansion of awareness/possibilities and sense of contentment or happiness.

Commitment, consistency, teaching each other, sharing values or reaffirming/confirming something essential in each other.

The sort between your charts is for eleven separate aspects that define energy, fun and lasting impressions between you. Most strong relationships have at least four to six of these aspects between their charts.

Janet's Sun Conj Michael's Mars:

Core Themes: This aspect indicates a challenge to act and to become. It encourages the start of something new, taking pioneering steps or being initiated into some latent aspect of yourself. There is an insistent, even impulsive energy generated when you are together. You will feel stimulated or even compelled in some important way. Participating in some sport or physically active project can alleviate any excess build up of energy that is generated when you are together. Setting mutual goals for what you want and planning how you will achieve those goals will address the need to take action that this aspect implies. These energies between you want progress and forward momentum, so be sure to provide and maintain new initiatives and a good dose of excitement. Your relationship will have a physical and/or active, energetic quality. This combination can bring up competitive drives, more so than you've felt with others. This can be a boon or it can cause a power struggle in the relationship.

You probably felt an instantaneous attraction to the qualities in each other. At the very least you were obviously aware of each other's energy and, in some cases, may even have felt threatened or that your personal space was being invaded. If you team up, this combination will fuel your goals and encourage progress. As a matter of fact, the energies you stir up together insist on forward momentum. At the same time, it can spark competition, which can sometimes be healthy and sometimes not. You two can make great strides together due to the sheer impetus and movement of these energies. You can stimulate each other and drive each other to new heights of achievement. However, there will be times when your desire to outdo each other can be irritating. Be aware that a selfish or self-serving attitude can develop if not checked early. Each of you responds actively to the initiatives of the other. You can motivate each other to achieve more. If your desire to motivate or take action crosses the line and becomes controlling, that's when you'll have trouble. No one wants to be controlled. You'll have to negotiate who will take the lead in a particular area or project. When properly harnessed, as a team you are the movers and shakers.

Michael's Moon Trine Janet's Asc.:

Core Themes: There is an easy outlet for the expression of emotions in your relationship and your association will have a strong emotional component. Provided you can handle the extra measure of emotional sensitivity, your relationship is enhanced by support of each other's feelings. The intent of this aspect is to increase your caring and nurturing capacities with each other and those whose lives you touch. Compassion and understanding in action is an important feature of your relationship.

You are likely to enjoy many of the same activities and have a unique and relaxed understanding of each other, that makes being with together very comfortable. Interfacing with others and the public at large is an important additional and easy way the two of you relate when you are together. People, the public and social issues are not only of interest to you but you're natural with the public. Most people will find you caring, compassionate and sincere, because somehow you are able to put yourselves in the other person's shoes. Business activities involving the public or any aspect of community concerns including finances and housing, commodities and commerce will be easy for you as a team.

Janet's Moon Trine Michael's Saturn:

Core Themes: The intent of this aspect is to build strong, lasting foundations and to develop and maintain emotional and material security. Resolving issues and finding solutions together will become a core talent. This aspect contributes to relationship longevity and significance because the inclination to build a solid relationship is inherent in the combination.

Mutual support for and commitment to the rules to which you've agreed for your relationship will be easier to maintain and will be valuable to both of you. There is a natural tolerance for the inevitable problems of life and a decided lack of whining. Just be sure that you don't make more problems for yourselves because you're so good at dealing with them or take on more responsibility than you should. Others will find you a dependable pair and will look up to you and respect you. It would be easy for you, as a team, to take a leadership role of some kind in the community, since organization, reliability and planning are natural talents for you. There is a greater chance of permanence for all your endeavors together because of the time, care and attention you put into them. With your skills of maintenance and self-improvement you will accomplish much and ensure the longevity of your relationship.

Michael's Sun Sextile Janet's Jupiter:

Core Themes: The intent of this aspect is to have you experience large doses of good fortune, joy, exuberance, adventure, opportunity and optimism. Your lives will open up and expand as a result of your relationship. There is a distinct desire for comfort and ease but, if not balanced well, this can lead to laziness or procrastination. The challenge in this aspect is to maintain the health of both the mind and body. There's an inclination to take a philosophical attitude toward life experiences and to gain from life's richness and variety.

There is a philanthropic quality to your business association. Together, you are willing to do things in a big way and take risks in the process. As business associates you will enhance and benefit each other. Goodwill and positive thinking, provided that you've done your homework and accepted the consequences, will bring you many wonderful experiences and praise from others. Because it will be easy for you to give of yourselves or your resources, you will need to choose carefully. Overextending yourselves is a real problem and can easily cause your optimism to crash. Boredom is anathema, and so both of you will have your antennae out for the next project to tackle. A regular amount of physical activity is vital and will keep you healthy and your ideas prolific.

Janet's Moon Trine Michael's Venus:

Core Themes: A wonderfully fortunate and harmonious aspect, it generates mutual support and genuine enjoyment. Social connections are favored and favorable. The intent of this aspect is to provide and foster ease, cooperation, support and consideration in all interactions and associations and to recognize the values you live by.

These energies add to the desire to form partnerships, alliances and associations and naturally gravitate to finding common ground for agreement and compromise. Be sure to maintain and nurture the mutual appreciation that brought you together in the first place. There is a natural aesthetic appreciation that could lead you to participate in various artistic pursuits or, in other ways, contribute to harmony in conducting your business. You will be known for remembering the small niceties of dealing with customers and the public. Others respond to the warm and fair-minded energy you generate and it will be readily apparent that you work well together. Social activities are highlighted, the two of you are quite charming in mixed company and with a bit of effort you can create a fine network of business alliances, customers and friendships. Make sure that your natural inclination for the finer things or smart appearance is affordable.

Chapter 2: Emotions and Communication

The following aspects detail the quality of your emotional connection, your basic level of comfort and your ease or difficulty in communicating, and discussing emotions and simply understanding where each of you is coming from. Additionally, these aspects help describe how you reason together and resolve issues or problems.

Janet's Moon in Aries, and Michael's is in Pisces:

Core Themes: Dissimilar emotional needs are indicated and to some extent different dispositions. Some of each other's daily habits can be annoying or irritating, making sharing the same physical spaces for long periods of time more difficult. In matters of timing, it is likely that, occasionally, you will be on a different page than your partner and operate on another timing pattern. The intent of this aspect is to find your way to emotional understanding despite different sensibilities and to respect the feelings of the other person although unlike your own.

Although you are fond of each other on many levels, your basic day-to-day habits are probably very different. You approach life's mundane chores and happenings in ways that may not be clearly understood by your partner. Your feelings and responses can sometimes be confusing for the other person as much as they like you and want to understand. This can cause not only friction but also frustration on a regular basis in the course of working together. Your habits and peculiarities can grate on each other and be the cause of arguments and misunderstandings. If you need to work together, it behooves you to practice patience and show willingness to compromise so as to resolve some of these differences. This aspect definitely requires more tolerance and acceptance, to allow for differences in mood and reaction. You have attracted this combination because of your own need to dig deeper into your habitual ways of responding and to search out the roots of your behavior by exploring your upbringing. There are many things you do that are unconscious and automatic, and contact with your partner will allow you to take a closer look, modify the negatives and also reaffirm your strongest feelings.

Janet's Mercury in Taurus, and Michael's is in Leo:

Core Themes: Outlook, perspective or styles of problem solving, even communicating, are the core of this aspect. This combination is more challenging because your mode of thinking and communicating tends to be quite different. The intent of this energy combination is to resolve issues of communication, speaking, reasoning etc., so that you can reach solutions and conclusions in creative and original ways.

Although you are associates or business partners, there are times when one of you will have great difficulty in figuring out where the other is coming from and what she or he is trying to tell you. Your styles of communication can be very different. The premise upon which you base your reasoning or the logic you use will often perplex your partner. Especially if you have to decide on projects or activities together, your differences can quickly become an issue between you. Talking things through slowly, step by step, will help each of you to understand how the other arrived at his or her opinion or conclusion. This will take patience but in the end will be worth it. What's more, by taking the time to really understand how your partner is thinking, you can not only learn something important about your partner but also get a different perspective yourself. And you will learn how your communication affects others, since your partner is probably not the only one who can't always understand what you're trying to say or figure out your logic. Your interaction will allow you to fine-tune your own thought processes and become more adept and flexible in the ways you communicate with others. This will be doubly useful if you are in a business that requires writing, speaking or regularly communicating with others.

Chapter 3: Fulfilling Each Other's Relationship Needs

These aspects explain how you meet each other's needs in important business or friendship partnerships. These aspects are based on what your natal chart describes that you're looking for in any major one-on-one relationship interaction.

Janet's Sun Square Michael's 7th house ruler, Mercury:

Core Themes: The intent of this aspect is to have you communicate with strength, warmth and laughter without letting stubbornness get in the way. And this aspect encourages you to express your opinions with the same dignity, certainty, courage and healthy self-esteem that you also allow others.

One of you can be particularly encouraging and lend enthusiasm for the ideas of the other. So when you share opinions, don't fall into the trap of making it a contest of whose opinion is better or right. Make sure neither of you is so wrapped up with your ideas that you lose objectivity. On the other hand, you can hatch some grand schemes together and feel the thrill of recognition and acceptance when you put them out into the marketplace of ideas to fuel your projects. Topics of communication between you will concern your role in the work you do together, as well as your position in society. You will never be at a loss to communicate and you'll want to communicate on a variety of topics. Do not let stubborn pride and false ego get in the way of continued communication between you. Promoting, advertising and putting the best face on your projects are special talents you share.

Janet's Mars Square Michael's 7th house ruler, Mercury:

Core Themes: The intent of this aspect is to help you think before you speak, to anticipate the consequences of your communication and the effect it will have on others. On the other hand there are times when a direct comment is just the right thing to do.

Your interaction with each other is likely to be lively, quick and busy. People will wonder how you accomplish all that you do. You share many interests and pursue them energetically, preferring to act on your ideas as soon as possible. When you communicate with each other, you tend to be direct and get to the point quickly, which is sometimes refreshing, sometimes startling and sometimes irritating to your associate or business partner. Paying attention to the person with whom you are speaking and observing cues will help you realize when your communication is counterproductive. You then have the opportunity to use your flexibility to make necessary changes and try again to get your message across. Because you are quick to speak, when you are feeling angry you will be quick to verbalize it. It is important for both of you to practice some restraint, so that you won't have too many regrets or speak words that will damage your business plans.

Janet's Neptune Square Michael's 7th house ruler, Mercury:

Core Themes: The intent of this aspect is to provoke a deeper understanding of your soul's purpose and the symbolic meaning of the events of your life, including the reason that you are drawn to a particular relationship. A spiritual attitude, faith and compassion are important themes and your relationship will not work at its optimum without these ingredients.

Keep your business dealings honest and aboveboard at all times. There is a danger of scandal or impropriety and you certainly don't want to fuel those negative energies in any way. Also, don't keep secrets from each other. Secrets create an invisible barrier between you that will inevitably damage the fragile trust and appreciation you have for each other. Trust is always a tenuous commodity particularly in the beginning stages when you don't yet know your business partner or associate well enough. As you become more closely acquainted, you will be tempted to second-guess your partner at times, because you'll be convinced you know what he or she wants. Although you may be right some of the time, it is important to check with your partner for certain. Taking things for granted and expecting that your partner will always react the same way is not good for the health of your partnership. Your relationship will require more than the average understanding and sensitivity. Giving to community causes or charities will add the right spirit to your business and will benefit you in amazing ways.

Janet's MC Conj Michael's 7th house ruler, Mercury:

Core Themes: The intent of this aspect is to make you aware of the important role of language and communication in the overall successful functioning of your relationship. Communication about goals, priorities and career matters are favored.

Initially, you will become interested in each other through some form of communication, or situation of learning, writing or social networking. Communication, learning, traveling, youth services, writing - any of these can be important interests and assets in the course of your ongoing business relationship. You are together to share knowledge and skills, not only with each other but also within your community circle, which can include local schools, churches, political organizations, programs for children or young adults or any number of other community services that attract your interest. In fact, your business may specifically cater to or benefit some of these types of service. Be aware that the business message you transmit will be heard loud and clear. Make sure the message transmits the way in which you want to be known.

Michael's Venus Trine Janet's 7th house ruler, Venus:

Core Themes: The intent of this aspect is balance, since life requires both cooperation and confrontation in the right measure and at the right time. The quality of all relationships is in focus including appreciation and consideration.

You will come to value being reasonable and finding ways to share both work and recreation with your business partner. Dividing your responsibilities according to your individual talents or taking turns will strengthen your bond with each other and create trust and good will. Remember, however, that in the best of partnerships, solo or independent activities are healthy. You have that unique capacity to master the ability to express your displeasure with someone without making them or yourself angry. Although you are good at negotiation and compromise, make sure that what you give up is equally fair to you. Resist giving in to keep the peace. The purpose of your business partnership is to create mutually harmonious relationships first with yourselves and then with others. Peace, tactfulness and consideration are qualities worth striving for, and you appreciate those characteristics in others. Direct confrontation is likely to be more difficult for you, and you can be turned off by those who are too blatant, coarse or obvious.

Michael's Saturn Trine Janet's 7th house ruler, Venus:

Core Themes: The intent of this aspect is to define and strengthen your commitment to yourself, your primary interests, to your important and close relationships and to maintain a solid foundation for growth. This pattern will test your criteria for what takes priority in your life or what are important values for you.

You are drawn to each other because you are ready for a stronger commitment in a work relationship. Perhaps you're seeking a solid business partnership or a project collaborator. As you get to know each other, you will feel a sense of something important between you or that you will learn things of importance from each other. Some might say there is a fated feeling or inevitability to the two of you meeting. It may take time for the two of you to feel that you can really trust each other or that you're both serious about the goal you want to pursue. It's possible that you feel indebted to your partner or that you agree to commit to a project together that will take a great deal of your time and energy. Whatever the case, a strong sense of responsibility will be a part of your relationship to each other for better or worse. Respect for one another is vital and it has to be a two-way street. A lack of respect, a lack of support and excessive or unjust judgment or criticism, real or perceived, will quickly undermine the relationship.

Michael's Uranus Trine Janet's 7th house ruler, Venus:

Core Themes: The intent of this aspect is to have you acknowledge the truth, speak the truth or live the truth, whatever that may be, and be willing to accept the consequences. This combination of energies brings some unusual relationships into your life to wake up your sleeping energies!

You are initially interested in each other because one or both of you are original thinkers, ahead of the pack and ahead of your time. You will feel a kinship and a relief in having found a fellow traveler on the same lonely road. You are clearly innovative and may be seen as controversial or else the views you express may be controversial. Together you can become representatives or catalysts for awakening others to a new viewpoint or perspective, hopefully positive. In your business, you will seek new and untested ideas but ones that promise to be the cutting edge of the future. This is an aspect of individuality, which means there is the chance that something about your business goes against convention or is advanced and unusual in some way. It is also important that each of you continues to feel like an individual even in the context of a business partnership. The two of you can be involved in a cutting-edge type of career or occupation, since your interests lean toward the innovative, avant-garde and progressive. You seek equally creative types to mingle with.

Chapter 4: Your Closest Contacts, Your Strongest Themes

This section interprets the closest connections between your charts. The wisdom of this section says that the closest aspects explain the major or central themes of your relationship and the reason you have come together. The nature of these aspects will also define the main activities, interests and patterns that affect your relationship life together.

Notice that, in this section, each paragraph contains both the easier expression of energies and the more challenging ones. Both interpretations are included because these close connections pertain to the central learning curve of your relationship. Based on the premise that the more exact the connection (also the closest energetic contact) between your pair of planets, the more psychologically significant the aspect will be for each of you. This means that you are likely to be strongly influenced by each other in the areas described. Because of this, it will be useful to consider both the easier and more challenging interpretations even though you lead with one of them. You will, from time to time and in various circumstances, probably exhibit some elements of each interpretation, both the easier expressions as well as the more challenging ones. Another thing - it's possible with both types of aspects that you will have the same challenges but simply respond or react to them in different ways. The goal is to rise to the best possible expression of each combination. This is the learning curve and this bestows the necessary wisdom to develop your relationship.

Janet's Sun Square Michael's Mercury (challenging aspect):

Core Themes: If this is your most exact aspect, the primary theme of your relationship involves communication and connecting with others through: curiosity, thinking and perspectives, versatility, variety of activities, and the gathering and distributing of information.

Challenging aspects: Communication is an integral ingredient in your relationship but at times getting your point across can be frustrating. You may have vastly different perspectives but if you shift your thinking this can turn out to be highly creative problem solving. Communication is so relevant that making an extra effort to seek out social relationships and activities involving learning is recommended. At times, your varied interests will clash and prevent you from being in the same place at the same time and cause one or both of you annoyance. You will need to monitor this situation so that you do not say things you'll regret, especially out of hurt pride.

Easier aspects: You will stimulate each other's thinking and generate ideas and likely understand each other quite well most of the time. In your business relationship, seeking social relationships and ways of connecting with others will enhance and benefit the energy you generate together. Wittiness, a kind of lighthearted humor and simply talking with each other about many topics will be the gift you share as a team and an important aspect of how you relate to each other. Together, you bring a fresh curiosity into everyday problem solving.

Janet's Mercury Square Michael's Uranus (challenging aspect):

Core Themes: If this is the most exact aspect between your charts, your main relationship themes concern imagination, compassion, understanding, faith and inspiration. The arts and music in some form will be mainstays in your lives.

Challenging aspects: There are gentleness, affection and tolerance that are easily expressed in your friendship. Your mutual attraction happens more on an energetic level initially. It is only later that you discover how much you have in common in the details of your lives. Your shared spiritual principles could mean you participate in similar spiritual or religious activities. Whatever the case, you are likely to have interesting conversations about life and spiritual practice.

Participation in and appreciation of the arts seems a natural and vital part of your lives. One of your gifts is the ability to inspire and smooth over the inevitable hurts and pains of life through understanding and compassion.

Easier aspects: This aspect confers potential flashes of brilliance and innovation in thoughts and ideas. You are likely to lead the pack with your progressive advantage and ability to take a wider perspective. Truthfulness is a high value in your business partnerships and will play a key role in all your business dealings. Although each of you is likely to be very opinionated you always respond to the truth of the matter under discussion. In your business practices your talent lies in making up your own minds about what your business stands for and how you conduct yourselves with clients and the community. You do not suffer from needless worry about what others will think. You speak with originality and creativity and a truthfulness that is hard to deny. Your forward-looking, cutting edge sensibilities are your best assets.

Michael's Moon Trine Janet's Asc. (easier aspect):

Core Themes: If this is the most exact aspect between your charts, your main relationship theme concerns the comfort you feel with the emotional expression or its lack in your relationship. You will be acutely aware of and receptive to each other's emotional state, the feelings of others and the quality of your immediate surroundings.

Easier aspects: Keying in to each other's emotional state will probably be easy between you. You get along well and there's a sense of camaraderie. This condition makes working together a fairly comfortable experience. You're on the same page most of the time and have the necessary ability to be sensitive and considerate. There's a sincerity of demeanor and disposition that works very well if you interface with groups or the general public on a regular basis. In fact, these are some of your strongest talents - meeting people, patience and the ability to be responsive to many different types of personalities. You readily attract others to your projects and your business will benefit from your people skills and all-around likeability. Your preferred style together is engaging, natural, caring and sincere in dealings with people, it's what's readily communicated and it's exactly what endears you to others. Focus on these qualities with excellent customer service and you'll have a winning combination.

Challenging aspects: Because you are so emotionally attuned to each other, you can become hypersensitive to your partner's moods and, at times, can hurt each other's feelings either inadvertently or purposefully. Balancing your emotional expression by curbing excessive displays of negativity or refusing to use emotionality to gain inappropriate attention will be one of your main tasks. Family concerns and various emotional complications can push your boundaries, distract you and prevent you from progressing. Be compassionate and helpful but also firm, to maintain your own emotional balance. Resist being cranky and hard to get along with. If you feel you have to walk on eggshells to maintain a relationship, you'll know the relationship is definitely ailing. In that case put your cards on the table and find a resolution or else move on.

Janet's Venus Trine Michael's Uranus (easier aspect):

Core Themes: If this is the most exact aspect between your charts, your main relationship theme is developing global consciousness and humanity, accepting differences in yourselves and others, telling the truth, living authentically and enjoying a creative, original and individualistic lifestyle.

Easier aspects: You express true humanity, treat others fairly, know how to be a great friend and possess a sense of humor - all qualities that will earn you support and influence. You own your own unique style and you tolerate differences in others. Those who know you respect your integrity, as well as your obvious acceptance of the original or creative. In business, you look into the future more than most and you catch the pulse of the times. You're always the first one to support an innovative idea. It is you that others will emulate. Slicing through the confusion and arriving at the crystal clarity of truth in any situation is your special gift in the business world. You will likely have many diverse friendships, since you value innovative and self-styled people. Your controversy has charm, and when you stand up for a cause, others will listen, because they'll sense an innate truthfulness. You have the ability to encourage others to look at the bigger picture and think outside the box.

Challenging aspects: You will never be completely conventional and, to some extent, you enjoy shocking others. Some will find you refreshing, but others will find you offensive, because of a hard edge you present and your seeming lack of consideration for others' feelings. Your counterculture values or abrupt manner can sometimes be extreme and brand you as unpredictable or a loose cannon. Standing up for worthy causes is one thing, but creating needless disruptions is another. It's important to learn the difference. If you can focus on the stimulating energies engendered in the group process, your creative process will have a natural outlet. Although at times you may be frustrated with group dynamics and want to strike out on your own, think of the consequences before doing so. You need your allies and support system, if you're going to deliver your brilliant idea. This combination describes a volatile brilliance.

Michael's Moon Opp Janet's Uranus (challenging aspect):

Core Themes: If this is the most exact aspect between your charts, your main relationship themes concern the need for freedom, authenticity, independence, truthfulness and creative self-expression. Human rights and basic human freedoms for all people are recurring issues.

Challenging aspects: This combination indicates abrupt shifts and changes in mood and temperament. Sometimes these shifts in perspective or position are exciting and innovative but clearly at other times they can be disruptive and unpleasant. Make sure your wish to change the status quo is grounded in reason otherwise it is likely to spoil your profitability or even your reputation. Being unpredictable or mired in controversy can create some publicity nightmares for you, if you're not careful. The desire for excitement can turn from drama to melodrama and you often find yourselves in uncomfortable situations with others. The basic impulse is toward the creative and innovative and you often serve as catalysts to increase awareness in a situation that is stuck. At times, you can be too blunt or too abrupt and you will antagonize others. Your erratic moods will make people feel uncertain of you, and your rebelliousness can alienate. Make sure you have enough unstructured time, so that you can freely and independently create at your own pace.

Easier aspects: Being in a business partnership or collaboration means that you will not have a conventional business style or model, nor would you want one. You may even have an unconventional type of business to begin with. You are often positioned as innovators at the cutting edge of your business sector. The two of you are happiest when you're creating original product or ideas or a business style that suits your individual and eclectic tastes. You thrive on originality and even a bit of eccentricity in your approach to business and life and in the colleagues and friendships you seek. Others will be attracted to your sparkle, your honesty and your sense of fun. When asked, you could very likely convey that your business is more exciting and creative than work and that's the way you like it. You strive to be alert to community and global events and are interested or involved in some type of human rights activism. Your lives are peppered with excitement and creative flair. You would not be averse to making abrupt changes to business mode, model, design or product should the situation warrant it.

Michael's Mercury Conj Janet's MC:

Core Themes: If this is the most exact aspect between your charts, your main relationship theme is presenting your particular message and skills to your community and family and through your career path. You can be in the marketing, advertising, journalism, teaching or writing worlds, because your language and communication skills are clearly obvious.

Challenging aspects: Your many skills and interests can at times distract you from your primary business goals and you need to be aware of this possibility. Spending time regularly going over the list of activities you are committed to and weeding out those that are not relevant to your goals will keep you from getting overwhelmed and underproductive. Scattering your energies will dissipate your message and keep you from the success you desire. Although you need variety, grouping your interests and tackling a few projects at a time will help you achieve more in a shorter time. Back up your talk with action. Determine your greatest strength and let others pick up the slack.

Easier aspects: Much of your communication and conversation with each other focuses on practical career matters or issues pertaining to your top priorities, including your home and family life. Fortunately for your business partnership, there is no end to the generating of ideas. Advertising and promotional material reaching your target market is an excellent outlet for your combined communication or writing skills. Other possible interests, in addition to or part of your main business are the education of children or the continued development of your own numerous interests and skills through further training. You are recognized and sought out in your community for communication, teaching or learning skills.

Janet's Mars Conj Michael's Mars:

Core Themes: If this is the most exact aspect between your charts, your main relationship theme is to manage anger and positively express or channel your vital energies by setting goals and taking action to realize them.

Challenging aspects: There's a go-getter energy that is clearly apparent when you are together. In fact, you spark and stimulate each other. However, you also have a great deal of feisty energy at your disposal, though it can quickly get out of control unless you are careful. Use your energy productively or by participating in challenging projects to take the overly restless or combative edge out of it. Quickness to act and quickness to anger often go together, so don't waste your energy fighting with each other. Instead, find something to pursue in tandem projects that you both agree is worth the effort. If you find yourself wanting to go in different directions or disagree as to how to begin a project, find aspects of the project that each of you can control and be fully in charge of. Then, combine your efforts at the end. It's possible that your ideas are so different that there may not be a meeting ground. In this case, it may be best to work on completely different projects.

Easier aspects: With this combination, you stimulate and energize each other to act. Setting goals, making progress, pioneering and leading the pack are normal conditions for you. Generally direct, you have a straightforward, energetic approach to life that others enjoy most of the time, unless they feel competitive with you. Even then, a healthy competitiveness is part of your interaction and is typically well received. "Just do it," is a mantra that works well for you most of the time. Others will marvel at what you get done in a short time. Your mode is to forge ahead with courage rather than to wait and ask permission. Innovation and leading your field is the strength of this business combination. Your combined energies are such that you probably enjoy spontaneous and impromptu events and can handle yourself well on the spot.

Michael's Moon Opp Janet's Pluto (challenging aspect):

Core Themes: If this is the most exact aspect between your charts, your main relationship themes concern managing the deep feelings you arouse in each other and your investments of emotion, energy and money. Learning to channel positively, the powerful emotions generated by your partnership is your next challenge.

Challenging aspects: You feel the possibilities to do great things in your business partnership but this will take concern and care. Some power struggles need to be worked through in your partnership and even some psychological demons, often originating from past experiences. Curbing reactivity and projection will be challenging but necessary and learned through trial and error. Because your feelings are so intense, fear of loss (of your interests, investment, position in the company, etc.) can be aroused, which in turn can give rise to jealousy, control or possessiveness. These emotional responses will not get you what you want. If you can't resolve your conflicts, seek professional help. The psychological, financial or power struggles you generate together could be too strong for the two of you to handle. The best thing is to let the process evolve with as much understanding that you can muster. There will be aspects to your relating that will be a mystery and may be beyond your present understanding.

Easier aspects: The changes you evoke in each other and through mutual projects will be long lasting and have a powerful effect. Your bond is strong and focused, and if properly channeled can transform anything you train your attention on. The power generated by this aspect cannot be contained by your relationship alone. You will find yourselves involved in organizations where powerfully committed people like yourselves gather to make things happen. Being analytically inclined and highly perceptive, you can be problem solvers or a healing force in business or in your community. Beyond that, you are survivors and can regenerate in spite of any difficulties you may encounter. Once you settle your power struggles with each other, you will have much to offer the world and your community. Be aware that financial issues or other situations involving your joint resources, including your personal energy expenditures, are central to your partnership and must be managed with care.

Michael's Uranus Square Janet's Asc. (challenging aspect):

Core Themes: If this is the most exact aspect between your charts, your main relationship theme is to express yourselves freely without excessive constraint and without automatically conforming to societal expectations. You support truth and human rights.

Challenging aspects: Your natural tendency to attract controversy could turn into a foolish need to gain negative attention or simply to irritate your competition. This is never a good enough reason to take an initiative. It's the "rebel without a cause" syndrome and is a waste of your efforts. If you're going to make a ripple in time or at least in your business circles, make sure you are either defending an inalienable right or presenting a brilliant innovation. Simply making statements that attract attention or create a scene will quickly earn you the reputation of being a "loose cannon". Sometimes, this method works in your favor, but most times it is disruptive and damages your reputation. Work at smoothing some of your rough edges, and your original and timely message may actually penetrate the consciousness of those you seek to influence. You bring out the strong will in each other, which doesn't easily lend itself to the compromises necessary in a business relationship. Still, if you want to be a team, you'll need some rules to go by.

Easier aspects: In your business relationship, you are seen as innovators and team players. You prefer the power of the group and consensus to make decisions and reach conclusions. Others may be fascinated and inspired with your boldness, your willingness to go against the grain and be controversial. You automatically sort for innovative means, methods and solutions and those that help the most people in an honest way. One of the best skills you have in terms of business is your social instinct. Acceptance of differences in style, ethnicity and any other human variable will earn you respect in your circle because you go beyond the limited viewpoints often in place. You tend to be very much who you are without putting on any social airs. People will respect your truthfulness and enjoy knowing that they can count on your honest opinion. Your approach may earn you some raised eyebrows initially but in the long run, your methods will be emulated.