Introduction

Introduction, Personal Security Report:

The purpose of this report is to provide you with information which you can use to help protect yourself (or your child) from crime, based on your astrological chart.

The most important thing to remember always is that it is YOU -YOUR consciousness and YOUR willpower which are your best protection against crime. The value of this report is to provide you with information which will help YOU, as an empowered, responsible, and creative individual to make the most effective decisions for yourself. This report is a resource for you to use; it is supportive of your own ability to make your own, best choices.

In fact, crimes occur only when individuals are out of touch with their inner strengths. If they are not in tune with themselves, they may not realize that they are not protecting themselves. They may be in a state of mind where they have lost sight of the knowledge that they CAN control their own destiny.

However, by being aware of the specific pitfalls to which you might be susceptible as an individual, you can concentrate your energies on protecting yourself in those areas first. Then you will have increased your level of safety and freed yourself to work on unfolding your inner potential in other ways.

By transforming your fear of crime into an experience of your own empowerment, you will be confronting some of your deepest fears and healing them on a permanent, deep, karmic level. The benefits, therefore, will go far beyond crime prevention in allowing you to advance along the spiritual path.

When persons are trapped in the cycle of karma, they can mistakenly believe that they must endure hurt or punishment. They create the hurt and punishment by thinking these negative thoughts. They attract negativity from other people, even to the extreme of attracting victimhood by crime. The answer is to become aware of what thoughts you are thinking on the unconscious level and to replace these thoughts with positive ones. Then, you will attract security, happiness, and self-confidence into your life.

Your natal astrological chart reveals where you may be thinking negative thoughts. It also suggests what you can do, given your unique personality, to divert these same energies into positive outlets. The essence of this report, then, is to show you what these energies are and how to work with them positively. In addition, this report elaborates on your many positive talents and strengths, which are additional resources which you can use both to protect yourself from crime and to go beyond that in healing yourself and the planet.

In the entire range of features in your chart, there are likely to be some energies which could lead to a vulnerability to crime more than others if they are not handled wisely. Any such aspects, which indicate a particular need for conscious work on your part in order to minimize any risk of crime, are indicated by a # at the beginning of the first paragraph of the interpretation. Do not worry if you have some #'s. They do not mean that any crime will necessarily happen to you; they just mean that, if you want to do some conscious work to make sure that you are protecting yourself, then these are the most important places to start. In fact, the ones marked # are usually the ones where you can develop the strongest POSITIVE abilities, if you go to the conscious effort of ensuring that these same energies are directed positively rather than negatively.

In addition, you may have some special gifts indicated in your chart. These are special abilities which you were already born with and to which you already have easy access. These are special talents which you can use to deal with the ones marked # in your own chart and which you can also use to go beyond that to solve the crime problem in your community and in society as a whole. Your outstanding talents in this regard are marked with a ! at the beginning of the first paragraph of the interpretation. You will find that you feel more fulfilled and that your energy flows better if you use any such talents for the positive purposes for which they were intended. Any marked ! would be your starting point if you decide to go beyond protecting yourself from crime to helping others.

Please note that no claim is made or implied that this report will guarantee that you will be safe from crime, because what really counts is how you use the knowledge gained from the report. Also, you may have had past karma prior to reading the report which would take special work to neutralize, in order for all risk of crime to be removed.

Note: This Report is a serious report, rather than being on the level of entertainment. It addresses the serious problem of crime and how to overcome it. If you have ever been a victim of a crime, or know someone who has, or if you live in an area where crime is an issue, it is designed to help you. If you are fortunate enough not to have been touched by crime, it will give you insight into the problem and show you how you can, if you choose, from your fortunate position, improve the world for others, by putting your higher compassion to good use.

Chapter 1: The Ascendant

Ascendant, Introduction:

The Ascendant indicates how we present ourselves to the world. Even if we are a certain way inside, we may not realize that we are projecting a different impression outwardly. By knowing how we first appear to others, we can be safer and better able to defend ourselves and avoid situations with which we do not identify.

If we project positively, this comes back to us. If we project negatively, this comes back to us too.

The Ascendant is also important as a focal point for other energy in the chart and for the energy which comes back to us.

Pisces Rising:

You have sensitive feelings and are likely to protect them by working in some type of sheltered environment, such as a hospital or other institution. There you will be protected from many of the crimes of the outside world. However, you still need to guard against the tendency for any criminal activity within these institutions to be hushed up. You need to make sure that your environment includes the opportunity for emotions to be released and for secrets to be told. Otherwise, you and others might suffer in silence and thereby attract victimization to crime through your aura of self-negation. Instead, love yourself and develop an aura of self-worth. Self-worth is the genuine basis for compassion. For example, if information about a crime is shared, it will save others from becoming victims of the same offender.

Develop your creative talents - dancing, acting, music - in order to have a healthy flow of your inner emotions to the outside world. Then you will be free from thinking that you are a victim.

Do not try to run away from your feelings with alcohol or drugs, as this will not work. Instead, deal with whatever emotions you feel like escaping from, as someone who seems on the run from anything is an easy target for anyone with criminal intent.

Use your intuition and psychic ability to avert unsafe situations; this can work very well for you.

Chapter 2: The Sun

Sun, Introduction:

The Sun rules the expression of basic energy potential and creative drive to grow and develop as an individual. It rules the dynamic expression of the will.

If the energy of the Sun is blocked or distorted, the negative manifestations which may occur are crimes resulting from the compulsion or will to do something; crimes as part of a lifestyle; crimes involving the life of someone; crimes resulting from a weak ego or the ability to be influenced; and crimes resulting from a threatened ego or from too much egotism.

To protect yourself from crimes involving the energy of the Sun, you need to affirm the strength of your own willpower. If you do this, whatever happens, you will still be fully aware at the deeper levels of your personality that you are a valuable, creative individual, in control of your own destiny. Affirm, too, that your inner will comes into manifestation from the infinite source, so that your ego will be guided by the spiritual direction. In that way, you will not be attached to your ego, but will see it as a connection to something even greater. Your ego is the means of bringing the inspiration of this greater power into your daily life.

Sun in Virgo:

If you have worked on preventative health care, as you likely have, you will be able to transfer many of the same principles to crime prevention. For example, if you eat a good diet and exercise regularly, you will also know that prevention is the best way to deal with crime. You are likely to read up on the subject by collecting all the police pamphlets, committing the suggestions to memory, and putting them into practice.

Your residence is not likely to look like a target for thieves, because it will be modest (so as not to look lavish) but neat (so as not to look careless).

If you do witness a crime, you will likely, with your good memory for details, be able to give a coherent description, complete with the license plate number of the suspect's car.

You believe that it is important to do the right and proper thing and to be honest, so you will be a good influence on those around you, to keep them from any involvement in crime.

You are good with figures and an accurate bookkeeper so no one can put one over on you when it comes to fraud.

As you lead a quiet lifestyle, you will not likely get drunk or go to places where rowdy activity occurs. Make sure that the predictability of your routine does not make you vulnerable prey to the less scrupulous. For example, if you come home from work at the same time every night, you might want to take such precautions as a self-defense course and a security system for your home, as an observer would know when you will not be at home.

Sun in the 6th House

You are likely to put a lot of energy into your daily work. This may mean that you are not home during the day, so make sure that your home cannot be broken into. It might also mean that you leave for work and come home at the same time every day and that others would be able to predict when you will be coming and going, so make sure that the route you take is safe.

You tend to take the lead with others in implementing safety and security measures and this type of attitude could help to reduce the amount of crime in your community.

Anyone viewing your home or place of business would get the immediate impression that you are careful about detail, as you somehow display this message openly. For example, you might have a Neighborhood Watch sign on your door. This would be a good deterrent to criminals.

Sun Conjunct Pluto:

(#) When you express your basic energy potential or ego, you tend to have a very intense, transformative effect on yourself and others. This is a very powerful energy combination and must be handled carefully so that its positive, rather than negative, potential can come out.

The lesson which will help you most here is to realize that, even though your ego is powerful, the universal will is even more powerful than the individual. Therefore, for one's ego-expression to bring about positive results, it must be carrying out universal will, rather than be standing on its own. You must harmonize your desires with spiritual purpose and you can do this through meditation, affirmations, or any variety of techniques.

As long as your ego is in harmony with greater purpose, then your self-expression will bring about great and universal good. You will feel transformed in your own life and you will have a powerful, healing effect on others. This is the great purpose for which you were meant. Once you are in this higher state of awareness, you will be far above the mundane level, at which ego would be used to exert force over oneself or others and would then attract extreme, destructive force in return.

If this is a child's chart, make sure that the child learns spiritual awareness at a very young age and that the child has a positive outlet for such powerful energy. In this way, the child will rise above forming a lifestyle pattern involving the misuse of force, as this would put the child at unnecessary risk from those who might destructively try to reinforce that pattern or to direct the misuse of force back towards the child.

Sun Sextile Jupiter:

(!) You are exceptionally self-expressive, creative and inspirational. Your intense, fiery zeal could purify the world from much crime and negative thinking. You are a born spiritual leader and have a dynamic will to uplift others ethically, philosophically and spiritually. You could excel as a political religious or educational leader.

You are positive, generous and compassionate and, therefore, likely to receive the same treatment from others. You would go beyond this too to uplift others from their negativity and turn their lifestyle around.

You would be fortunate and successful as a fund-raiser, because others would respond to your goodwill, confidence and positive approach.

Sun Sextile Neptune:

You thrive on creative, imaginative self-expression and would do well to pursue a career in film, dance, theatre, magic or acting. You are a master of illusions. It is important that you do something with this talent, so that you will be self-confident and not susceptible to the illusions of others, such as con-men.

Have the willpower to stay away from a lifestyle of drugs or alcohol, as these are only means of escape from your positive potential and are, therefore, pointless and non-productive. If you feel depressed or fearful, replace these emotions with a positive outlook and you will not feel the need to escape. You have a great deal of inner willpower and psychic potential to draw upon, so make the best use of it.

Chapter 3: The Moon

Moon, Introduction:

The Moon, in its usual meaning, rules immediate emotional responses, attitudes instilled from family or childhood, your likely reaction to external influences and the actions of others, home life, your relationships with your mother and with women in general, and your manner of responding to the public at large.

If the energy of the Moon is blocked or distorted, its negative manifestations can occur. That would include crimes involving the role of mother, wife, or live-in girlfriend; emotionally-based crimes; crimes resulting from a disrupted childhood; crimes involving sentimental items; and crimes resulting from immediate feelings or fears. In fact, quite often it is the transiting Moon which triggers a natal planet when a crime occurs. (Mars is the other frequent trigger).

To protect yourself from crimes associated with Moon energy, work at cultivating domestic peace or else move into a more nurturing home environment; work through any childhood traumas you may have had; be in tune with your emotions; protect any sentimental items you may possess; and learn to think logically, rather than get caught up in the emotions of others. As long as you nurture yourself and act as if you value your home, you will dispel the kind of energy which would work against your home security.

Moon in Pisces:

You are very impressionable emotionally. This can work either for you or against you in protecting you from crime. It can work for you if you are able to use your sixth sense to foresee any potential danger and escape from it. It can work against you if you pick up negative impressions and worry about crimes which will never happen. If you do the latter, you will be talking yourself into a victim role.

It is very important that you cultivate a positive outlook. Believe in yourself. Cultivate a positive self-image. Repeat affirmations that you are a worthy person, safe from harm and capable of great good. Keep clear of alcohol and drugs, as they will distort your perception and keep you from facing whatever realities your sensitive feelings tend to want to escape from. If you have unresolved anger and hurts from the past, you will be vulnerable for more hurt, so do the work to release these feelings. Develop your creative talent in music, drama or dance, as this will be a very enjoyable way of releasing old emotions and keeping good feelings flowing. Relax by the sea or in a boat, as this has a healing effect on you. You can attract good karma to yourself by extending your sympathy to those in need, so that they will not turn to crime. However, look after your own needs first, before taking this on.

Moon in the 1st House

You may be acting from your emotional responses to your early environment, so make sure that you are tuned in realistically to the way things actually are now rather than then, in terms of whether you are safe from crime. You may have had some rough experiences when you were young, but it is not necessarily true that you need to worry about the same conditions now. On the other hand, the neighborhood may not now be as safe as it was then and you would need to make appropriate adjustments for that.

You are emotionally self-expressive and that is generally good, but you need to be aware that if the emotion you are expressing is sudden anger, it needs to be kept under control if you are to avoid making enemies with others.

You are likely to take good care of your physical body, to heal it and develop it. Because you respect your body, you are less likely to be attacked by anyone, because, rather than be like a victim, you are healthy and fit, despite any worries you may have about it.

Moon Square Saturn:

(#) You are likely to experience some tension around the issue of how your mother disciplined you when you were young. There may have been a lack of money and this may have been part of the reason for the necessity of being careful not to be over-indulgent. However, your mother would have worked hard and eventually overcome obstacles to give you a stable upbringing. You would have internalized this belief that difficulties can eventually be surmounted by taking a positive attitude about work.

You need to work on prosperity consciousness, that is, the belief that you deserve to have enough - enough love and enough money -because if you go around with the belief that you do not deserve to have as much as other people, then someone may try to take what you have away from you.

Moon Sextile Mars:

You are emotionally self-expressive, in a creative and constructive way. For example, you are likely to perform kind actions for your family members whom you care about. You are likely to protect them from crime by taking such practical actions in the home as installing good locks on the doors, putting up a good fence around the property, and making sure that their valuables are kept in a safe place.

You would also be likely to defend your family quickly from any attack in a constructive way, either physically or by preparing them in advance with the knowledge they need. For example, you would ensure that your children know what to do if a stranger ever approaches them. You take action in these matters, rather than just think about it, and you do so because you care about your family.

Chapter 4: Mercury

Mercury, Introduction:

Mercury rules both Gemini and Virgo. Gemini pertains to the communication of thoughts and information, whereas Virgo has to do with the organization and analysis of facts. Both are mental signs and are usually above the lower realm in which crimes tend to occur.

If the energy of Mercury is blocked or distorted, there are some negative manifestations of its energy which can take place. One of the Gemini ones is smooth talking. Another is clouded thinking. Crimes involving secret communications or interference with communication would also have a Mercury component. As for Virgo, Virgo has to do with analysis and logic and can, therefore, indicate the pushing of rules. Virgo is related to small details and can be a factor in petty theft. The work connotation of Virgo can come out in crimes in the workplace. White-collar crimes can have a Mercury component.

To protect yourself from crimes in which Mercury energy is a factor, develop your mind so that you will be able to outsmart the offender. Use your mental ability, so that you will not be unconsciously leaving it up to the less scrupulous to remind you of the potential of mental faculties. Have your information organized and communicate it well, to leave less room for crime to occur.

Mercury in Leo:

You are able to think "big", even though you might not pay attention to detail. You could, therefore, lead others by speaking out against crime, particularly in the political arena. As far as details go, other persons are likely to assist you because of your generosity and your inspiring leadership. However, do remember such details as not leaving your wallet where it could be stolen and locking your door when you go out.

Beware of anyone who tries to lead you down the garden path with eloquent-sounding words. Make sure that their promises have substance.

Also, be aware that if you think you are better than others, there are some who might contest you or, at worst, victimize you.

Because you speak out in public about your opinions, as if you are an authority, some persons may possibly see you as a scapegoat for their own shortcomings, simply because you are an available target. Therefore, take steps to prevent this.

Your speech is powerful and your ideas are creative. These are valuable assets in preventing crime, both for yourself and others whom you would inspire, particularly children. You may, for example, advocate recreational activities for children to keep them out of trouble with the law.

Certainly, your dynamic personality would strike any would-be criminal as the opposite of being an easy victim and your positiveness would help to neutralize their negative thoughts.

Mercury in the 6th House

You are intellectually superior and likely to spend your time studying at a university rather than associating with any criminal element. You have an excellent memory for details and would be able to give a good description of any suspect.

Your accounting skills would be excellent. You would be able to protect yourself or your business from fraud because you would know where every cent goes.

You may receive specialized training in the health field and just as you are concerned about preventing disease, you would also be aware of the value of taking precautions to protect your safety. You would be unlikely to take unnecessary risks and would, therefore, keep yourself safe.

At work, you need to be aware of not being critical of those who may not have your ability to be so accurate and detailed, as they may resent this and find some minor way of getting even.

Mercury Square Mars:

You need to avoid situations where arguments could escalate into disputes. When you apply your willpower in a conscious way, your words can have a very positive effect, of stimulating other people to action. However, words are a very powerful tool and one needs to be very careful of the effect which they can have on other people. This is especially true if the persons to whom you are speaking are very impulsive and cannot stand the thought of losing an argument. Others may feel especially challenged by you, without you necessarily being aware of it, because you tend to present your point of view in a very concise, direct way, which causes them to think. If they are not very good at thinking, they may tend to become argumentative instead.

Be especially careful when you are at work that your words convey the meaning to others which you intend, or they might take what you have said in the wrong way. Strive for harmony and good communication with your co-workers. This will keep any unnecessary tension from being created.

Mercury Sextile Jupiter:

Your talents for writing, speaking, teaching and publishing could be used to offset crime in our society. You would not even have to address or mention the issue of crime, you would be providing a positive alternative to it on a much higher plane. For example, you could lecture at a university about intellectual and spiritual topics, so as to educate and uplift others high above the plane where crime even exists. You could also preach in a church or provide uplifting literature to raise the vibration of our society to a higher plane.

Chapter 5: Venus

Venus, Introduction:

Venus rules both Libra and Taurus. It rules social, romantic and artistic expression, social relationships and close friendships. Venus, being the traditional goddess of love, is the opposite polarity to Mars, the god of war. The energy of Venus, when properly used, can offset the aggression of Mars and thereby neutralize the tendency towards many crimes. Venus can make peace and build bridges of understanding.

However, when the energy of Venus gets distorted or is not allowed its proper expression, it can result in crimes associated with too much passivity or not enough aggression, such as robbery, attacks on females or vulnerable males, sexual assault, and crimes involving girlfriends. What happens in these crimes is that, when there is a build-up of unexpressed Venus energy in the victim, it attracts the opposite polarity to itself. These crimes occur when there is also a build-up of too much Mars energy (or sometimes Pluto or other energy) in the offender. The two polarities meet, often without the prior conscious awareness by either victim or offender that their energy is out of balance. You can avoid crimes associated with your Venus energy by making sure that it has enough legitimate outlets, such as art, loving relationships and good friendships.

Venus in Leo:

You are very warm-hearted and kind and would never mean any harm to anyone. Therefore, you are likely to attract kindness from others, not criminal activity.

You are artistic and would do well to seek an emotional outlet in this field. Your art would be dramatic and would attract attention. You need attention to feel secure, and when you are secure, you are not going to be victimized by anyone else. If you do not get the attention you need, it is then that you might even feel driven to be the victim of something, so that you can get attention. The solution to all this is to realize that you are ultimately the person responsible for giving yourself attention. If you are so kind to others or so caught up in getting their approval that you forget about your own needs, then you go around with needs which must be fulfilled. Take the time for self-expression and for tuning in to whom you are and how you really feel.

You are kind to children and will be a very positive influence on them, provided that you attend to your own emotional needs first. Make sure that you are secure within yourself and then you will be able to provide genuine security and artistic guidance for children.

Venus in the 6th House

You are likely to meet a romantic partner through work and that is usually a safe way to ensure that the person is not anyone of criminal intent.

Your work is likely to be harmonious and artistic. Because you generate peace and beauty through your everyday work, you are likely to receive peaceful treatment from others in return.

Your home is likely to be valuable but at the same time neat and modest, so as not to attract thieves. It neither appears valuable so as to be worth breaking into, nor neglected so as to be easy to enter without security alarms going off.

You are generally practical in your approach and not likely to be carried away by anyone who promises a great deal but who has little substance behind it.

Venus Conjunct Uranus:

You are likely to have unusual romantic relationships. Just make sure that the persons to whom you are suddenly attracted are of good character, so that you will be protected from the criminal element.

You have many friends and are likely to be protected from crimes by the fact that you are usually with others rather than alone. You also tend to be artistic and idealistic, so that you attract peaceful vibrations rather than crime in return.

Venus Square Mars:

Unless you work at it consciously you are likely to experience considerable tension in the area of male-female relationships. You have the potential for unusually good and fulfilling romantic and sexual relationships if you use your willpower but you need to put forth the effort in order to reach this higher plane. The two energies you are working with here are very different from each other - Venus traditionally the love-goddess and Mars, the God of War. You are, therefore, faced with the question of when to be passive and when to be aggressive. You need to be tuned in to your partner to know this and this is where your conscious effort can motivate you to learn the skills and knowledge as to how to be sensitive to someone else while at the same time not denying your own needs.

If the energies of Venus and Mars are repressed, their expression will still eventually happen, but it will be in an uncontrolled way, and that would not be at all favorable with such strong, polarized energies. You would be better off to get marital and sexual counseling in advance of any problems occurring because of the very powerful potential of these energies, which you must learn both to acknowledge and to control.

In the very rare, worst-case scenario, Venus-Mars energies can end with sexual assault, fighting within marriage and armed robbery, but do not be alarmed by these possibilities. Just get to know yourself and then be secure in the knowledge that these things only happen to persons who have not made the effort which you have.

A useful outlet for your Venus and Mars energy would be to become a skilled craftsman. You would be combining the beauty of Venus with the energy of Mars to produce a tangible, beautiful result.

Venus Trine Saturn:

(!) You have a talent for turning short-term attractions into long-term relationships. You do this by being kind and honest and willing to help others through difficult times, by bringing happiness into their lives. You are, therefore, not likely to be vulnerable to crime because you get back what you put into relationships. Also, because you are honest yourself, you are able to tell whether someone else is honest.

You are aware of the need to take practical precautions to make sure that your valuables are protected from crime. Make sure that you actually go to the effort to carry out these measures.

You have artistic ability and may have the ability to help the police by sketching a suspect whom you have seen.

Chapter 6: Mars

Mars, Introduction:

Usually when we think of a crime we think of an act of aggression such as fighting, stabbing, shooting, beating, blows, bludgeoning, or arson. These crimes are all ruled by Mars.

In general, the metaphysical way to avoid being a victim of any of these crimes is to make sure that you are channeling the aggressive side of your personality constructively. That is because if you turn this energy inwards, rather than outwards into some activity, you will be using it against yourself. If you turn aggression towards yourself, others may tend to direct THEIR aggressive energies towards you too, because they are seeking an outlet for their own aggression. On the other hand, if your own Mars energy is flowing and being used in a healthy way, then others who are in need of guidance will follow your example and channel their aggressive energy constructively too. If you think well of yourself, you will create positive experiences for yourself. If you think negatively of yourself, you will attract negativity.

Mars in Taurus:

You are determined and persevering. Physically you are strong and active. Anyone trying to commit a crime against you would be in for quite a battle. Yet you work to create peace and would therefore, not be likely to get into a situation of confrontation in the first place.

You are desirous of money and quite aggressive about obtaining it. This quality, if properly channeled, could make you very ambitious and financially successful. However, if you are frustrated and do not believe in your capacity to obtain money for some reason, you would become more vulnerable to someone trying to take your money away from you. Work on building up your own, inner sense of security and self-worth, as the key to crime prevention is your positive mental attitude. As long as you do this, you will achieve the sense of security which you need. It would only be if you did not believe in yourself that you might give others the impression that you think that "might makes right" and polarize them against you.

Mars in the 2nd House

You like to start and run your own business. You are competitive about money, so make sure that this does not lead to any possible crime on the part of someone who does not want you to win.

You are able to earn a great deal of money but you spend it quickly, thereby avoiding, for example, the necessity of having to plan the security measures for a large house. You do not like to be tied down to that extent, as you would rather re-invest your money in some brand-new venture instead.

Be wary of those who come along with get-rich-quick schemes. You may be quick to act if you think something is a good deal but make sure that you are not too impulsive.

Chapter 7: Jupiter

Jupiter, Introduction:

In the positive sense, Jupiter rules religious and philosophical beliefs, higher education, expansiveness, large-scale generosity, financial and material benefits and earned goodwill. If this type of energy is not flowing or if it gets wrongly diverted, it can turn into crimes involving large amounts of money or reliance on luck, theft of large items, or indulgent behavior getting out of hand.

To avoid becoming a victim of a crime associated with Jupiter, employ your optimism, goodwill and positive thinking. Faith can overcome crime on an individual level and also on a large-scale level through one's church, educational teachings, or inspired projects. In order not to become a victim of a large financial scheme, you can employ positive thinking to believe that you deserve to have the money which you have and to remember that you extended goodwill towards others in order to earn it. It is when you do not believe in your own prosperity that you are at risk of losing it. However, if you are in a situation where you know deep down that you have not earned the money you have and that you really have been too self-indulgent to deserve it, then you would be better off voluntarily giving a large amount of your money to charity than to have it taken away from you through a crime.

Jupiter in Libra:

You are very popular and well-liked because of your generosity and sociability. You treat others in the way you would like to be treated and so they are likely to be kind to you, rather than want to commit any kind of crime against you. Even if there were someone who was jealous of your popularity, you would neutralize them through your kindness.

With your ability to spread goodwill, you would be good at raising funds or promoting some peaceful project. If there is a crime prevention group in your area, your work on behalf of it would be very effective.

You are knowledgeable about the law and could teach others about the philosophy of justice and the value of fairness and equality. You are interested in art and culture and would, therefore, associate in circles which are far removed from the mundane, criminal element.

You are likely to enjoy a happy marriage and to be far beyond any of the domestic disagreements which plague others. You regard marriage as a traditional, spiritual union between two people who are kind partners to one another.

Jupiter in the 8th House

You are good at handling other people's money, as you would be honest and you would research in depth the best ways for the money to be invested. You would bring honesty into any field where there may be others who are shrewd and plotting, rather than working for their own good or anyone else's.

You tend to be telepathic, especially in invoking higher spiritual energies. You might be able to use this talent to prevent others from committing crimes, if you could reach them telepathically with positive, spiritual thoughts. You would be a very transformative, spiritual healer.

You could very well benefit from an inheritance or an insurance settlement and you would be likely to invest this money in a way which would create great good in society, by addressing some deep problem such as crime.

Jupiter Conjunct Neptune:

You have a great capacity for high spiritual development and it is important that you choose the higher path rather than a degenerative one. You need to avoid the risk of being victimized by deceptive money schemes, to which you could become susceptible if you forget the wisdom that money must be karmically earned. You also need to avoid those who would try to get you involved with drugs or alcohol for their own large profits, because such substances could take you far away from the spiritual path of facing problems rather than trying to escape from them.

Instead, realize that you have a remarkable capacity for optimism. Positive thought can overcome any problems or indulgences. You also have a keen ability to tune in to the higher planes psychically. You can become a great spiritual healer of others, if you choose, and you would be wise to do so. Believe in yourself and you will find great fulfillment.

Jupiter Sextile Pluto:

(!) You would do well at teaching prosperity consciousness to others. If the poor could be taught to have positive ideas about wealth and be motivated to turn their lives around, a lot of crime could be prevented. You would have the ability to reach them, so a good use of your unusual talent would be to learn first about the principles of prosperity consciousness yourself and then to spread the inspiration to others. You would be well rewarded for your efforts, as you probably already instinctively feel.

You would also have unusual ability to raise funds for crime prevention projects. Your goodwill would attract donations and your courage to deal with real issues would inspire others to make the project work.

You might be able to work through a church or other established religious or charitable organization to teach the poor to have more faith or to inspire ex-offenders to do something meaningful with their lives.

Chapter 8: Saturn

Saturn, Introduction:

In its positive meaning, Saturn rules discipline, order and recognition, but if the demands of the disciplinarian become too harsh or if the pressure to seek recognition is too great, then Saturn can operate in a negative way.

The types of crimes associated with Saturn are those of a sadistic, cruel or brutal nature. As Saturn governs limitations and rules, it also plays a part in crimes of confinement, drug enforcement, and crimes against authority figures.

The way to avoid Saturnine crimes is to enhance the positive qualities of Saturn within yourself. That is, accept that there have to be certain rules for society to work; attend to your career responsibilities, and carry out your duties as an authority fairly. Do not wear yourself down with too many rules; do not become a work addict; and do not be authoritarian. In short, take the responsibility for your own conduct and your own karma, so that others will not be inclined to fill that gap for you.

Saturn in Sagittarius:

You are serious about religious values and moral codes and are, therefore, either not likely to associate with the criminal element or else be uplifting their values in some capacity, so as to prevent them from committing crimes.

You live your religion in a practical way and apply its inspiration in your everyday life, so that your positive thinking would help to protect you from the possibility of victimization by crime.

As you value your personal reputation, you would live according to upright values and gain the respect of others. You are very prudent. For example, you would not go on a trip without first finding out the necessary precautions against crime in your destination.

Saturn in the 9th House

You are likely to travel for business. You need to be careful that your destinations and accommodations are safe and that you are not entering into high-crime areas. You also need to ensure that your home is protected from the criminal element, while you are gone and that your children are well supervised, so that they will not be on their own too much.

You are serious about your religious values and you apply them in your everyday life. You are exceptionally honest. You would, therefore, be able to tell immediately if someone else were dishonest or not of high moral values.

Your values are traditional. This is good because you have stability; however, be prepared to be flexible in situations where others may be inclined to rebel against tradition so that they will not oppose you in any unsafe way.

Saturn Trine Uranus:

(!) You would succeed well in a career which allows for originality of thought and where you could be your own boss. You would come up with inventive ideas and then be able to put them to practical use. You might, for example, develop new ideas for crime prevention at which you would then work hard on your own until you had them perfected.

Your work could involve teaching others how to establish a link with the universal mind. Many crimes are committed because the victims and offenders are not tuned in to their higher selves. You would be able to guide them in this in a practical way, so that the link between the spiritual and the physical could be successfully made.

Chapter 9: Uranus

Uranus, Introduction:

On the positive side, Uranus rules freedom, individuality, original ideas, the link with the Universal Mind, friends and group purpose. However, if Uranian energy is blocked or distorted, its negative manifestations may result. These can include rebellion, crimes involving more than one victim or offender, crimes assisted by a friend or group, unexpected or unusual crimes, and crimes involving several of something, such as several shots or wounds.

In order to avoid becoming the victim of a crime influenced by Uranus, you need to make sure that your needs related to Uranian energy are being expressed. For example, if you need the freedom to be an individual and authorities are imposing too many rules on you, you may attract rebellious behavior from others who actually think they are providing you with what you need; they will regard their actions as part of a "cause". Therefore, you need to get yourself out of the situation where the rules are being imposed, for your own good. You may also need to seek out a group of friends who share your ideals, so that you will be less vulnerable. It may be that you need to see a universal purpose in the work which you are doing, because if you are bored with your activity, then you will unconsciously attract negative, sudden events, as a distraction.

Uranus in Leo:

You are original, creative and bold - perhaps a leader in innovative drama or art. You could create an unusual television show on crime prevention, which would use entertainment as a way of attracting attention and getting the message across. Or you could take your message to children and inspire them to believe in themselves.

You are a leader in creating your own standards. You would, therefore, be above the belief that just because there has been crime in the past, there has to be crime in the future.

Uranus in the 6th House

You are interested in alternative healing. You understand that the thoughts which one thinks create one's physical reality. You would, therefore, be aware that victimization by crime can be prevented by using positive affirmations.

You are likely in using scientific inventions to protect yourself from crime, such as electronic devices and telephone technology. These methods are efficient and easy to use.

You are likely to work at something unusual, but it will be something on a high mental plane where you will be unlikely to encounter the criminal element.

Chapter 10: Neptune

Neptune, Introduction:

Neptune, in its positive sense, rules imagination, intuition, the creative faculty and spiritual destiny. If this type of energy is blocked or distorted it can result in negative manifestations such as deception, theft, escape or disappearance. Neptunian energy can be distorted by alcohol or drugs or by unconscious self-deception.

The way to handle Neptunian energy, so as to avoid the crimes associated with it, is first to acknowledge your creative, emotional, intuitive side. Our society tends to value logic and rational thinking, but there is a whole other realm of potential ruled by the right side of the brain. Exercises which enhance creativity and psychic and spiritual awareness are very helpful here. If you acknowledge this side of your being rather than try to make it "disappear", you will not attract crimes of illusion, such as theft or being kidnapped.

Remember, too, that it is okay to be sensitive and that sensitive feelings do not need to be denied through alcohol or drugs. These substances, if used to escape from reality, hide rather than bring out your true self. Even if your sensitive feelings are painful or uncomfortable, it is better to acknowledge them and deal with them, so that the repression of them will not weaken you and make you vulnerable.

Neptune in Scorpio:

You were born at a time when people tended to be intensely emotional, especially regarding sexuality, psychically receptive and secretive. Alcohol and drugs were a major cause of crime and these crimes included drug-dealing, killing and bike gang activities. How these trends influenced you as an individual would depend on the rest of your chart.

Neptune in the 8th House

You are intensely psychic, perceptive and deeply emotional and spiritual. If you developed your psychic ability you might be able to use it to prevent people from murdering each other, by sending light over distances. You are courageous enough to face such serious questions as death and your psychic potential is very great.

In the meantime, you could protect yourself from crime by creating a psychic shield around yourself. You understand on the unconscious level how the principle of self-defense works.

Neptune Sextile Pluto:

(!) This aspect is characteristic of your whole generation, rather than just of you as an individual, so it gives insight into an overall trend of which you are part and in which you can do your part.

The trend is for there to be a favorable link between people's imaginative, creative faculty, intuition, and spiritual destiny, on one hand, and their ability to deal with extremes of good and evil on the other. In other words, if enough people meditate and channel positive energies in the right way, then the problem of crime can be eliminated in this generation.

The members of this generation have the potential to uplift their spirits from the escapes of alcohol and drugs and other denials of their true nature. They can express, rather than repress, their creative spirits and harmonize their inspirations with the divine good. They can heal the hurts which then surface, neutralize the karma from many ages past, which becomes clear to them, and they can create a whole new destiny for the future in which crime will not be a part. This new age can spring from the awareness that what we think is what we create and what we create is what we become. We have the power to choose and we can choose a crime-free society.

Chapter 11: Pluto

Pluto, Introduction:

The kind of aggression associated with Pluto is that of revenge, jealousy, long-standing anger or resentment. While Mars aggression is a quick flare-up which just as quickly dissipates, Pluto aggression is likely to be premeditated, extremely shocking, or very forceful. Pluto is associated with such crimes as homicide, extreme violence, extreme sexual attacks, and gang attack.

The important thing to understand about Pluto energy is that it CAN be just as positive as it can be negative. If the same intensity of energy were taken from these extreme crimes and directed towards a positive end, the results would be just as extremely beneficial as the criminal alternative would be destructive. Pluto energy, however, is never moderate, so if you have strong Pluto influences in your chart, be sure to maintain conscious control over them, so that the intensely GOOD results will follow. Your Pluto energy gives you a wonderful opportunity to transform yourself and others for the better. It can solve problems for the masses. Use this energy as it was intended, because if you bottle it up inside and the pressure builds up and eats away at you, you can imagine what kind of treatment you might unconsciously attract from others.

Pluto in Virgo:

You were born in a generation when there were great changes in the workplace. There were also revolutionary developments in alternative, holistic health care. How Pluto affected you as an individual member of that generation depends on the house and aspects of Pluto in your own natal chart.

Pluto in the 6th House

You are interested in the field of nuclear safety and safety from any other powerful, intense force. You are also interested in revolutionary advances in medicine which could cure fatal diseases and prolong human life expectancy. Similarly, you would see the issue of preventing intense crimes, such as homicides or gang attacks, as an area which needs careful attention and study in order to get to the root of what will make people safe from the fear of these extreme possibilities. You would work very intensely in a field such as this.

You would also be an excellent transformative healer. Through alternative medicine, yoga, or positive thinking, you would seek to help individuals change their thought patterns and cure supposedly incurable illnesses. Similarly, you would be very effective at helping others to transcend their fear of crime in a way which no one would have believed is possible.
